

Interfaith Conversations on Peace and Reconciliation

In dialogue, we allow what is beautiful, peaceful and meaningful in the other to transform us. Thich Nhat Hanh

Overview

Join us for an evening of inspiring interfaith conversation designed to explore our collective futures through meaningful dialogue. Together, we will engage in discussions that matter, uncovering a greater wisdom that is not held by any one of us but emerges from the richness of our diverse perspectives. As we share our insights and connect with one another, we will harness the collective intelligence needed to address our challenges.

Listen to the voices of three spiritual leaders, each representing a different faith tradition, before breaking into small groups to reflect on what we have learned and collaboratively discern a path forward. Let's come together and discover the wisdom that binds us as a community and empowers us to act!

Refreshments will be served.
